Each bucket is filled with clear baby bottle nipples and the team to get the most nipples wins. *NOTE: This is more fun played like “Bobbing for Apples”. However, if hosts / guests would not like faces in the water, you can switch it up to play with the inner elbow, toes, or hands.

What Am I?: Make a card for each guest by writing a baby item on the card (i.e. Dirty Diaper, Pacifier, etc.). As guests arrive, pin a card on their back and have them mingle. Guests must ask each other a series of “Yes” or “No” questions to try to identify the item. After someone has correctly guessed the item, they can pin their card to the front or take it off.

We’re Having A Baby!: Guests will be split into teams and each person will get a balloon. Upon hearing “GO”, someone from each team must blow up the balloon, stick it under their shirt and so on until all team members have balloons under their shirts.
